

Psychs on Bikes

Dear Psych colleagues,

Following a very successful motorbike ride across the Nullarbor in March 2011 with my colleagues, fellow psychiatrist Dr Oliver O'Connell & psychologist Ross Leonard, we decided to launch an even bigger event in 2012: Psychs on Bikes

We plan to ride from coast-to-coast, leaving Cottesloe Beach in Perth on Saturday April 14 & arriving at Bondi Beach in Sydney on Sunday April 22. That means covering four thousand kilometres in nine days. We'll be raising money for a variety of established mental health charities. All riders will be expected to raise at least $500.

The ride is open to any psychiatrist, psychologist or bona fide mental health professional (including nurses & other therapists) who have a biggish motorbike & a desire for adventure.

Riders can join & leave us anywhere along the way. We can offer practical advice on equipment, accommodation, costs & how to transport your bike to the start of the ride & then back home after the finish.
